

Bat Nelson to Follow Jack O'Brien and Do the Soclety Thing, Starting Off With a Banquet in 'Frisco's Swell Hotel.

ATTLING NELSON is always doing something new. There's never a dull season while the Durable Dane is in town. It's either a fight or a monologue or a hunting trip or some other Nelsonian novelty.

As champion, Bat is expanding. To-day's mail brought in the following card:

Battling Nelson Requests the pleasure of Bob Edgren's company at the BANQUET Given at Battler & Hall, Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, at the hour of 7 P. M.,_ on Wednesday, July 15, 1908. Please present card at banquet hall.

Please respond.

W HEE! The Battler is going in for this society stunt for fair. "Battler's Hall." in the Hotel Fairmont. Are they naming dining-rooms after the Dane now?

the Crockers and the Searleses and Hopkinsos and all the rest of the nobby railroad and mining millionaires had their palaces before the earthquake and fire swept them away. The Fairmont is a great pile of pure white marble. Inside it is a miracle of the decorator's art. It takes a rich man to tear off a hall bedroom in the Fairmont. Battling Nelson and his father have a suite of the coliseum A. C. in its clubhouse, at One Hundred and Twenty-house, at One Hu of rooms, with porters, valets, &c. They have been living at the Fairmont for Billy Gibson, matchmakar of the Fairmont consisting the bost way. In the bost way is resumed a great may when he week to keep a suit with all the trim mings in a palace. There's Young Corbett threw away his resumes two great little men, as the bost way will be a simed these two great little men, as the bost way in granubles of a smoker. In his prime great each of the trip is the bost of a smoker. In his prime great each wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't be all the would as the structure of the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and the less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and Bat is seen as a sole little wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and the less than the clear wouldn't buy clears for Nelson, and the less than the clear wouldn't buy clear for Nelson, and the less than the clear wouldn't buy clear for Nelson, and the less than t

tate. He is a shrewd business man.

Just once he was trimmed. The mining game got him for something like $6.00.

And Bat ways "never again." His real and Bat says "never again." His real estate investments near Chicago, all in land in the manufacturing district, have made him many thousands of dollars.

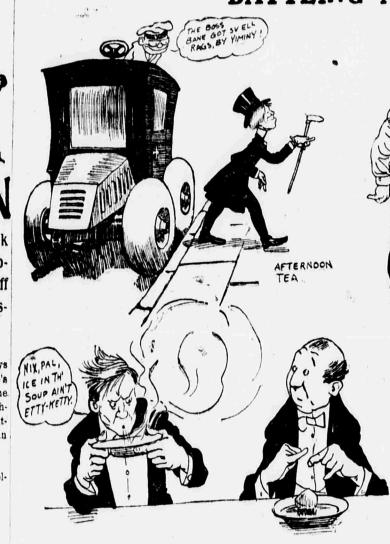

But the banquet business! That's a new stunt for the Battler. And yet not entirely new, either, for he gave a great banquet in Los Angeles after one Harry Gilmore and Packey McFarland of his fights there. "Seat 215" suggests started for Los Angeles this morning, to dive into this dress suit and lobster salad game? At any rate, he is making weight Stanley Ketchel and Hugo Kelly a royal start. Nelson has always been known as the closest fisted of all the fighters, but entertaining on this scale must cost him a thousand or tag. must cost him a thousand or two at a comply. This morning Ketchel finally gave in. clip. He makes sawn his tutor and his flowered bathrobe and his tutor and his flowered bathrobe a niker, sawn never innowered bathrobe and his tutor and his valet, look like a piker. Jawn never invited 218 or more guests to a banquet in a special hall at the Fairmont. Ham and eggs was Jawn's limit. Or he might invite you to share a pot of tea and a box of wafers with him. Jawn would make the tea himself at that and send his valet out for the Uneedas.

He got that habit while "doing monologue." He stands up and "springs a few gags" on the assembled company, waiting for the laugh after each scintillation, and then "springing another scream."

I guess this banquet thing was worth a thousand or so to Bat. He can afford it. Any man with a couple of hundred thousand dollars can afford a little spiurge now and then. And Nelson has something like $20,000 in view in the coming return match with Gans. Ho can afford it, too, because wine and race horses don't cost him a cent. That's where he has an edge of the brokendown money-makers of the fistle game.

While it was generally believed by local yachtsmen that the Shamrock, safled by Capt. Charley Barr, had won the race, the official awarding of the cup was delayed owing to a protest made by Stuyvesrmt Wainwright, owner of the sloop Mimosa III., second in the race, who thought that the rating given the Shamrock was too small. Many changes of the Shamrock in hull and sails during her twenty years of existence caused the argument over her recent measurements.
